- Over 300 Exhibitors
- 800+ Health Care Institutions

Economic scenario of Nepal

The economy of Nepal is developing category and largely dependent on agriculture. GDP is heavily dependent on remittances (9.1%) of foreign workers. Strong export performance, including earnings from tourism, and external aid have helped improve the overall balance of payments and increase international reserves. Nepal's economy is anticipated to grow by 3.6% (at market prices) in fiscal year (FY) 2024, from an estimated growth of 1.9% in FY2023, as per the Asian Development Outlook (ADO) report. A gradual relaxation of monetary policy coupled with improved consumer and investor confidence is expected to stimulate economic activity in FY2024. Service sector growth will also likely accelerate as credit controls ease, interest rates further decrease, and tourism revenues expand. Agriculture growth may also increase marginally.

India and Nepal's Bilateral Trade

Nepal has been a priority partner of India under its 'Neighbourhood First' policy that came into being since a long time. India and Nepal share close and friendly relations characterized by age-old historical and cultural linkages, open border and deep-rooted people-to-people contacts. The multifaceted relations between the two countries have gained a new momentum boosting economic and development partnership between the two countries. In terms of trade, India remains Nepal's largest trade partner with bilateral trade crossing US$ 7.87 billion in 2023-24, with exports touching US$ 7.04 billion and imports estimated around US$ 0.83 billion, enjoying a positive trade surplus. In the engineering sector, India's exports to Nepal stood at US$ 2.06 billion during 2023-24. Some of the top engineering products exported to Nepal includes Iron and Steel, Electrical machinery and equipment, industrial machinery for dairy, motor vehicles/cars, etc. On the other hand India's import from Nepal witnessed massive jump of over 120% from US$ 93 million in 2022-23 to US$ 204.4 million in 2023-24. Major imports happening in products like flat rolled products of iron and steel, other aircraft (except unmanned aircrafts), flat rolled products of cold rolled steel, unwrought lead, copper plates, etc.

The product profile of Nepal Medical Expo 2025 consists of Medical Devices, Surgical Instruments, Lab instruments, Diagnostic products, Healthcare and other related products. In 2022 (Trade Map) India's export of Medical Devices and Instruments to the Nepal totaled USD 67.5 million, representing a 29% share of the Nepal's total import of such devices and instruments. During same time, India ranked top most position among the supplying markets imported by Nepal in medical machinery and devices, indicating significant untapped potential in this market, followed by China and USA with import share of 26.5% and 8.5% respectively.

Opportunity for Indian Medical devices Industry in Nepal

The medical device industry in Nepal is steadily growing, driven by increasing healthcare demands and advancements in technology. Despite facing challenges such as limited infrastructure and regulatory frameworks, the sector is showing promise with a growing market for devices ranging from diagnostic equipment to surgical tools. Local manufacturers are emerging alongside international players, contributing to both the domestic healthcare sector and exports. While most pharmaceuticals devices are imported from India, the expansion of private sector medical facilities in Nepal offers significant opportunities for Indian medical equipment and supplies. The prospects for India's medical devices exports to Nepal remain promising, offering opportunities for export growth in the years ahead.

In this background, participating in the Nepal Medical Show 2025 offers an ideal platform to cater to the abundant opportunities available for medical device companies to meet the country's growing demand. It is important for Indian companies to participate in such shows to maintain its presence and increase its share in the Nepalese market. Undoubtedly, the event will play a major role for medical devices manufacturers and distributors of the Indian engineering sector.
